

Which Courier Company Should I Choose for Shipping?

When it comes to shipping your orders, choosing the right courier company is crucial for ensuring timely and efficient delivery. We recommend opting for Blue Dart for the most efficient delivery timelines, with Blue Dart Air being the fastest option. Delhivery is our second-best recommendation, providing reliable service across many locations.

Real-Time Updates and Serviceability

Our website is updated in real-time, displaying only those courier companies that are serviceable for the pin code you provide. This ensures that you always have the best possible options for shipping your orders. This can also lead to your preferred courier company being unserviceable and not shown for particular or multiple locations.

Changes in Serviceability

Please note that there could be instances where a courier company becomes unserviceable after you place an order. Such situations can hinder dispatch timelines. To address this, we automatically update your order with the next best available courier option.

Any difference in shipping charges due to a change in the courier company will be automatically refunded or deducted. You will receive a notification at your registered email address if such changes occur.

By choosing the right courier company, you can ensure that your orders are delivered efficiently and on time.
